Mr. Randall's Committee and the Cowles Bill-Booming Plumb for the Cabinet -Cleveland's Indifference.

WASHINGTON, February 14 .- [Special.]-The riotous scenes in the house yesterday over the Elliott-Smalls case are to be repeated many times soon after the opening of the fifty-first congress. In fact, it is believed the fights on the floor in the next congress will be even more bitter and much more protracted. The democrats are almost certain of re-sorting to filibustering tactics to prethe unseating of southern democrats whose seaes are contested by repubus, and in this event there will be deadlock after deadlock, and much bitter controversy between the two parties. A. change of rules is the only thing that can prevent this. The republicans will probably attempt to change the rules, but the democrats will see that they are not changed so as to put the

AT THE MERCY OF THE MAJORITY. If necessary they will resort to filibustering to prevent the change. There is much uneasiness feit by the republicans on account of the curious situation and they are already prepar-ing for a hard fight. The taugle over the two seats in West Virginia has not been settled, and it is believed that a democrat will at least get one of the seats. In this event, the republican majority will be very small, not over five members, and it will be impossible for them to get a quorum together at any time unless the democrats vote. Considering this the republicans feel that they have got to get a very strong man in the speaker's chair, who will act with fairness and promptness when occasion requires. Of course the friends of each of the candidates claim their man to be the one for the place. McKinley is now lead-ing the race, and if no great change takes place stween now and the time of meeting of the extra session, he will be the next speaker of Booming the Wrong Man. It will be remembered that some ten days ago a delegation of Kansas patriots visited Indianapolis and recommended the appointnent of Senator Plumb to the head of either the interior or the treasury department. The finite character of the wants of this delegation led to the suspicion that they were not exactly advised as to what the senator himself sired in this matter. It now transpires that the gentlemen who undertook this mission had had no correspondence with the Kansas senator, and that he had no desire for a cabinet office. The gentlemen who undertook the self-Imposed task turned out to be a lot of Kansas office-seekers, who expected to get a lien on the senator's influence by making the pilgrimage to Indianapolis in his behalf. A few of the deligation came clear on to Washington to see what impression they had made and how much they could depend upon Mr. Plumb ordially received by the Kansas senator ould make them no promises concerning the future appointments.

The committee discussed the bill for some time, when the session adjourned on account of the meeting of the house. They will, however, meet again tomorrow to further consider the bill. The vote today showed the feeling of the committee in regard to favorably reporting The vote today showed the feeling of the committee in regard to favorably reporting the bill. It showed that every member of the committee, with the exception of the two above mentioned are in favor of reporting it back to the house with the recommendation, that it do pass. However, it developed today that the ways and means committee, and their followers, would antagonize the bill, and as they are in a position where they can do it, it is feared they will, do this. It has heretofore is feared they will do this. It has heretofore been considered that the bill, when reported would be privileged matter, but by reference to the rules of the house today, by some of the democratic opponents of the bill, it was found that from the ways and means committee are privileged, and that nothing from the appropriations committee except general appropriation bills are privileged under the rules. Therefore, if the point of order is raised against the bill, and it will be, it cannot be taken up for consideration except on suspension days, and then it will take a two-thirds vote of the house to cali it up. While there is a majority of about thirty in the house for the bill, it will be impossible, considering the opposition of the ways and means committee, to get the necessary two-thirds vote for consideration. The ways and means committee have postponed reporting their bill and it will not be reported before Saturday. The bill, as has been mentioned in these dispatches before, will contain the Cowles tobacco bill as did the Mills and senate bills, but it will also contain a very large portion of the fore, if the point of order is raised against the oni as did the Mills and senate bills, but it will also contain a very large portion of the Mills bill. The house will, of course, pass this bill, but its known by every member of that body that the senate will refuse to accept it as a compromise measure, and therefore, if the ways and means committee oppose the Cowles bill, as it is evident they will do, and refuse to agree to that solely, there can be no use to agree to that solely, there can be no tariff legislation this sess

of the Measure. Washington, February 14.—Secretary Bayard and Attorney-General Garland gave a hearing at the state department today to friends and opponents of the Nicaruaga canal bill now waiting the action of the president. The hear ing was given on the president's suggestion in order to determine if there were any valid legal objections to the approval of the bill. Simon Sterne and John Jay McCook, of New York, representing the American, Atlantic and Pa-eific Transit company, made arguments against the bill. The former contended that it was clearly unconstitutional and contrary to the spirit and traditions of the United States government and entirely unnecessary and vicious in that it recognized and encouraged one corporation to the detriment of others, equally, if not more, deserving.

ARGUMENTS OF BOTH SIDES. Mr. McCook argued that to allow this bill to become a law would be an act of great injustice to Americans and Englishmen, holding nearly 2,000,000 of bonds of the Atlantic and Pacific Transit company and would undoubt-edly lead to serious conflictions with Great Britain.

Judge C. P. Daly, of New York, replied in behalf of the Nicaruagan Maritine Canal company, contending that the constitutional features of the measure was fally and freely discussed in congress and theat no unlawful powers or concessions are conferred by the bill. Secretary Bayard and Attorney-General Garland will submit their views on the subject to the president in a few days.

From remarks made by each of them during the hearing it is not regarded as likely that they will report against the constitutionality of the bill.

It is gathered that democratic members of the committee are pretty widely divided in regard to the policy they shall follow, and that while the republicans are not entirely solid, they are in much better shape than the other side. It seems probable that the bill will eventually be reported favorably by the committee, but with important amendments, striking out the "moonshine" sections, or the provisions intended to mitigate the rigors of the administrations of the internal revenue laws. The bill will be further considered tomorrow, and may then be finally acted upon so far as the committee is concerned.

We believe that the fifteenth amendment should be maintained with fairness and vigor, and that ample protection, through federal agency, should be given every citizen. We cannot doubt that you agree with its in such opinions, and that you desire that such objects shall be accomplished in the interest of seven millions of American citizens, who today in the south are practically disfranchised and whose cause we represent and plead. Such a course would, we apprehend, be unbecoming. We ask simply that a person be appointed to such position whose cordial acceptance of great American dectrines as respects citizenship and the ballot for the humblest of our citizens, however, formerly slaves and outcasts, would lead to him to search diligently and thoroughly for the law in such behalf, uninfluenced and armed in judgment against our cause by reason of ill-founded, though strong predelictions and prejudices. The importance and absolute necessity of appointment to the position which we name of a man, who, is addition to great learning in law. Alabama's Confederate Monument.

Montgomery, Ala., February 14.— [Special.]—A tremendous crowd, composed largely of ladies, filled the lobbies and galleries at the state house when the general assembly met today. The special order of the day in the house, was the bill appropriating five thousand dollars to aid in the completion of the confederate monument on Capitol hill. The debate was long and lively, and the bill was finally passed on a vote of 51 to 41. The bill now goes to the senate, where it will have some opposition, but will probably pass. It is generally believed however, that Governor Seay will veto the bill, as he has declared himself in opposition to any convenience for the himself in opposition to appropriations for the monument, believing that it should be built by voluntary subscriptions.

Why He Vetoed It.

Washington, February 14.—The president today vetoed a private pension bill, which originated in the senate for the reason, as he says, that "the bill in precisely the same words as the bill herewith returned, approved on the 8th day of July, 1886, and under its provisions the beneficiary is now upon the pension rolls. It is supposed that the bill now under consideration was passed by congress in ignorance of the previous statute. The duplication of the act would manifestly be entirely useless."

Will Leave It for Their Successors.

WASHINGTON, February 14.—[Special.]—It is said at the state department that as their is not the slighest wish or desire on the part of the president or Secretary Bayard to embarrass the incoming administration with respect to its Samoan policy, it is not at all likely that the present administration will arrogate to itself the selection of an American representation at the proposed conference at Berlin, or that it will take any action whatever which might tend to compile the next administration.

The Appropriation to be Reported. PEATH IN THE MOUNTAINS. A Fatal Row Between Whites and Blacks in North Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 14.-[Special.] The negroes in our western mountains are having considerable trouble with the white desperadoes who live there and follow the ocmanufacturing and selling illicit liquors. Of late these desperadoes, who care for nothing save their distillery on the mountain side, it we been making desperate efforts to run certain negroes, who they believe have put the officers on the track of their business, out of the county. But the negroes refuse to be scared or bulldozed, and have armed themselves and are ready for any fray.

A report tonight from Cherokee county, where trouble is most imminent, brings particulars of a terrible bloody row Tuesday night in that county at a place called Marble. A negro by the name of Lee Brown gave a dance at his house that night, and the negroes for miles asound gathered there to have a jolly time. Moonshine whisky was freely indulged in and about midnight the crowd was pretty drunk, women included. Nearly all the negroes had either a pistol, bowie knife or musket, and were ready for any sort of fight. While all were dancing and fiddle and banjo were making merry music, some one inside cried be scared or bulldozed, and have armed themmaking merry music, some one inside cried

"White men all round de house." The dancing at once came to a stand still, and the nasic ceased. A peep through the crack of the door substantiated the assertion, and the negroes were in a frenzy what to do. They knew trouble was ahead, and there was no way to avoid it only to make bad worse. A negro fuli of whisky put his head out at the oor, and cried out:
"You white men is ordered to leave de prem

This fired the breast of the desperadoes, who This fired the breast of the desperadoes, who were all armed, and had been drinking just enough mean whisky to make them want a row. So one of the leaders called out for, the negroes to come out of the house, and they would give them bullets. After some time the negroes got their mplements of war in hand and walked out. It was a motly crowd of soldiers. The negro girls who had only few minutes before been shaking their feet to the music of the hand and shaking their feet to the music of the banjo and fiddle, marched out with pistols in hand. Only few words and war was declared. A negro fired the first shot, which felled a white man to the ground, Then bang bang went up midst the cries and groans of the wounded. Bowie knives, stones and clubs were also brought into play. Soon the negro girls, some of whom had received wounds, fied and the negro nen followed. When the smoke of battle had cleared away three men were found lying upon the ground, dead. They were, Ransford Altman and Oscar Deal, white, and Sam Smith, colored. Charleston, S. C., February 14.—[Special.] Things have taken another turn in the Pacific company failure. The proceedings instituted in the circuit court at Beaufort to set aside the assignment has resulted in the granting of an order to that effect. William Miles and H. A. Ropes, has been enjoined from selling or disposing of the property or assets of the company in this state, or of the stock owned by the company in the South Carolina phosphate company. It is further ordered that all creditors be anjoined from enforcing their claims by any legal action or proceeding against the company otherwise than in this action, with the provision, however, that nothing in this order shall be construed as to prejudice the claims of any of the creditors or their liens by attachment, and they are free to prosecute their claims to judgment if so advised, as if this order had not been made, and with all their rights preserved. Immediately after Floquet's announcement all members of the ministry sent their resignations to President Carnot. THE CHAMBERS CROWDED.

The chamber was crowded. The prince of Wales and Lord Lyton, British ambassador, occupied seats in the diplomatic gallery. Baron Mackan, president of the right, moved to adjourn debate on the revision question for one week. He declared that the right desired a complete revision as well as dissolution of the chamber. division was taken, with the result stated. SURPRISED EVERYBODY. The resignation of the ministry was a com olete surprise to the chambers. M. Floquet had said nothing implying an intention to make a motion to adjourn the cabinet question. Both the left and right were unaware how the ministry would regard the vote. The majority included members of the right and a Boulanger was a passive spectator of the roceeding in the chamber of deputies. Im nediately after the adjournment he issued a manifesto to the electors of the department of the Seine. In this he claims credit for his party for the "Overthrow of the discredited ministry that was attempting to snare the country by a comedy of a proposal to revise the constitution which, if passed by the chamber, the ministry well knew would be rejected by the senate." He proceeds: "We would not allow the cabinet thus to deceive universal suffrage, and to consecrate its usurpation, by doing the work of the constitutent assembly. The fall of this ill-omened ministry, which had already planned laws for the restriction of liberty, will be a relief to the public conscience."

"It is a step further toward the dissolution of the chamber and the convocation of a conthe Seine. In this he claims credit for his party of the chamber and the convocation of a constituent assembly. After the vote on the scrutifi d'arrondissement bill, which, in its author's mind, was nothing more than a blow dealt at universal suffrage, the electoral period has commenced. It is for the country to speak. Vive La Republique."

Count Douville Maillefeu is an eccentric radical. In the course of his speech today he said he did not desire to place difficulties in the way of the cabinet. A PARTISAN REPORT

IS WHAT SENATOR COKE CALLS THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT

On the Alleged Texas Outrages-The Territorial Bill in the House-A Little Fillibustering-A Vote to be Taken Today.

Washington, February 14.-Mr. Morgan offered an amendment to the resolution reported from the committee on privileges and elections, which was laid on the table and ordered printed. It instructs the committee so to frame legistation on the subject of elections that it shall not apply to any state whose constitution and laws provide security for an honest exercise of the right to yote; for the just, impartial and true ascertain-ment and certification of the results, and in which state those requirements have been bonestly complied with.

THE DISMAL SWAMP PROPERTY. Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution (which was agreed to) directing the committee on commerce to take into consideration the ques-ion of expediency of the parchase by the United States, of the Dismal Swamp canal in the states of Virginia and North Carolina, with a view to its being improved and made an adequate highway for commerce, between Chesapeake bay and the principal sounds of North Carolina, and with a view to utilizing the fresh water of the canal and its feeders in a basin for metal vessels of the navy.

A conference was ordered on the legislative appropriation bill and Messrs Allison, Dawes and Cockrell were appointed conferees.

THE TEXAS ELECTION INQUIRY. The senate then, at 2:15, resumed consideration of the resolution reported from the con mittee on privileges and elections, and was ad-dressed by Mr. Coke. He mentioned the pleasure with which he had listened yesterday to the amiable and even-tempered statemen of Mr. Evarts and said he would have said nothing, if that senator's remarks had not nothing, if that senator's remarks had not been supplemented by the report of the committee on privileges and elections which had been published in today's Record. But that report he could not permit to go unchallenged. He declared, on his responsibility as a man and senator, that it was unjust, one-sided and partisan. If the committee had been prosecutors, instead of judges, inculpatory testimony could not have been more thoroughly convergated in the report, nor exculpatory mony could not have been more thoroughly congregated in the report, nor exculpatory testimony more thoroughly excluded. The senate and country should recollect, on reading the report, that it was politics. It was besed principally on three memorialists—Hackworth, Moore and Chutze—and took no note of the testimony of twenty five witnesses to the effect that Hackworth and Chutze

He condemned, as the people of Washington county and of Texas condemned, all violations of law there, Texas condemned, all violations of law there, and declared that attempted to fix the responsibility for them on that people had no support except the testimony of "the infamous trio and some of their vilest coadjutators." These three had tried to make it appear that they were forced to leave the country because of their politics, while the fact was (he asserted) that they had left it because they were REGARDED AS MORAL LEPELS, unfit for decent association. He would prove that by reference to the testimony of the wit-nesses which had not been recited in the report of the committee. He declared that when the memorialists lost the public offices which they had held in the county they were covered all over with indictments for official malfeasance.

Mr. Coke sent to the clerk's desk and had read a counter memorial of citizens of Brenbam, painting in very dark colors the characters of Hackworth and Schurz denyins all their external allegations and presenting the their material allegations and presenting the democratic side of troubles in Washington county. He also sent to the clerk's desk and had read testimony in corroboration of this

Mr. Springer moved that the house insist on Its amendment and ask for another confer

This motion having been agreed to, Mr. Baker, of New York, offered a resolution giving the house conferees the following instructions: First, to exclude the territory of New Mexico from the bill; second, to anend the bill so as to provide for the admission of South Dakota by proclamation of the president under the Sioux falls constitution, to be resubmitted to the people of South Dakota with a provision for a new election of state and federal officers and without a new vote on the question of division; third, that the proposed states of North Dakota, Montana and Washington shall be admitted on the same basis, either all by proclamation of the president or all by formal act of admission.

MR. CON'S SUBSTITUTE.

Mr. Cox, of New York, offered a subititute for the resolution differing only from Mr. Baker's proposition in that it provides for the admission of North Dakota, Montana and Washington by proclamation of the president.

Washington by proclamation of the president.

Mr. Baker accepted Mr, Cox's resolution as substitute for his own.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, demanded a division and a vote was first taken upon that portion of the resolution instructing the congress to eliminate New Mexico from the bill.

It was agreed to; yeas 135, nays 106.

But at the last moment Mr. Breckinridge changed his vote from the negative to the affirmative for the purpose of moving a

On motion of Mr. Baker, the motion to reconsider was laid upon the table.

On motion of Mr. Baker, the motion to reconsider was laid upon the table.

The next clause of the resolution which was voted upon was that instructing the conferces to demand a bill as to provide for the admission of South Dakota by proclamation, without further vote on the question of division.

This clause was agreed to -yeas 137, nays 102.

Motions to reconsider and lay upon the table were made by Mr. Baker, and the yeas and nays were ordered on the latter motion.

Mr. Breckinridge interjected a motion to adjourn, but this was voted down.

That could be secured tomorrow. [IMr. McMillin, of Tennessee, then interposed another motion to adjourn and demanded the yeas and nays, which were ordered.

This motion having been voted down—yeas 82, nays 142—Mr. Breckinridge followed it up with a motion for a recess until 11:30 tomorrow, and raised the point of no quorum.

Messrs. Baker and Breckinridge then attempted to reach an arrangement by which a vote on the motion to table the motion to feconsider should be taken now, but a demand for the "regular order" from the republicans side cut short any agreement, and Mr. McMillin again moved an adjournment.

The motion to adjourn having been voted down, an arrangement was affected whereby a vote on the resolutions shall be taken tomorrow at 12:45, and the house then, at 5:10, adjourned.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA.

Decisions Rendered Monday, February 11, 1889-Reported by Henry C. Peeples. Swanson et al. vs. Calhoun. Partition, from Houston. Wills. Construction. Before Judge Gustin.

Houston. Wills. Construction. Before Judge Gustin.

Simmons, J—By his will, a testator devised the property in question to his daughter, Martha Swanson, for the use of her and her daughter, Mayler, and after Martha's death, one-half to be equally divided between three grandchildren (naming them), the other half to go to Mayler, and if she die without heirs, to be equally divided between the three grandchildren named. Martha Swanson is still alive. Mayler died without issue and intestate. One of the three other grandchildren named, after the death of Mayler, filed his petition for a partition as legatee under the will:

Held, that the land was not, under the will, to be divided until after the death of the life tenant, Martha Swanson. Her daughter had a joint use of it with ker mother during her mother's life, and if she had lived, she could have received only her portion of the land after the death of her mother; so that, whether the petitioner claims under the clause of the will in which half of the property is given to him and two other grandchildren, or under the clause which provides that, in case of Mayler's death without heirs, the property is to be equally divided between petitioner and the two other grandchildren, he has commenced his proceeding before the time contemplated by the testator for the division of the property.

WOMMACK'S AGONY.

THE TERRORS OF A DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA

The Symptoms Described as They Lead Up to the Death Agony-A General Warfare

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga., February 14.-[Special.] As stated briefly in Thursday's Constitution, a white man named John Henry Wommack died some days ago with what was supposed to be hydrophobia. There is little room to doubt now that it was genuine hydrophobia. Others in the neighborhood have been bitten, and the excitement there is LITTLE SHORT OF A PANIC. The circumstances of Wommack's case are these: One month ago from last Wednesday Wommack was bitten by a cat. The wound was a severe one on the left forefinger. It healed up in a week or ten days, and the incident was forgotten. Saturday, the 9th, Wom-mack complained of a shooting pain in the finger. At first this was confined to the finger, then it reached the elbow, then to the sho der, finally entering the body. He described the pain by saying that it was in the marrow of his bones, and felt like pins sticking. The shooting pains became more frequent and severe. On Saturday night he had a violent fit.

JUMP LIKE A CAT, beat his breasts with his feet, lie down upon the floor, kick until the bones in his toes were broken. The fit lasted seven minutes. Atter it was over Wommack explained that he had been perfectly conscious the whole time, was utterly unable to control himself. Half th hour after the first was the second fit.

The unfortunate man would

"For God's sake open the door," pleaded Wommack; "I'm choking to death."

The door was opened. "Shut it quick!" screamed the madman "shut it quick! I'm choking to death." Susequent fits were in every way like the first, except more severe.

"Wife," he said after one, "I wanted to bite you, but I clamped my teeth and wouldn't do

Sunday, neighbors were going to chain Wammack for the protection of the family, but he begged them not.

"I know you all," said he. "I know if I bite you you would die. When I want to bite you I just think of you suffering as I do, and I

The fits continued at regular intervals of ten or fifteen minutes until Wednesday morning last. Wommack was then put in a room alone, as he was getting evidently less able to control himself. His lower eyelid and the muscles about the cheekbone began swelling until the eye entirely closed. The hump under each eye was larger than an egg, It was first red, then blue, finally almost black. The upper lid contracted, exposing the whites of the eyes. When the spasms would come on

WITH A GREENISH GLITTER like those of a cat in the dark. When Wom-mack was locked in the room in a hurry, and in the confusion the baby was left on the bed; Wommack had a terrible spasm, but did no notice the baby lying three feet away. The mother of the child ran in and picked up the baby. The spasm had passed off. Wommack took his wife's hand, held it for several seconds, told her good-bye and also several relatives and neighbors. As the door was about to be shut again he begged for his wife to come to him again "Go back, John," said a neighbor.

Wommack obeyed. The door was shut. Almost immediately he jumped up twice,

Then he fell and lay quite still. The door was opened, and he was found lying on the floor, his head propped against the bed, his eavy beard was matted with white froth, and after he fell a considerable quantity of the same froth fell from his lips, forming

A POOL ON THE FLOOR. Wommack's feet and hands were terribly bruised and lacerated. His finger nails were torn off, his breast was black and sore from

TEN DAYS AGO Mrs. Wominack was bitten by the house cat It was known that the strange cat that bit Wommack had also bitten the house cat Mrs. Wommack complained her heel, similar to those Tuesday of pains in by her husband, and as in that sore apparently healed up. The country was scoured for a madstone. Finally one was found. This and other remedies, real or sup-posed, are being used. Mrs. Wommack is apparently in good health as ever, talks as usual, and the only symptoms are the slight pains, starting in the heel, extending to the pains, though she still feels occasional twinges. She is left with four children, all girls, the youngest a baby at the breast. Her relatives and friends are with her constantly.

'Do you think you have hydrophobia?" she was asked tonight.

"The doctors says I have the neuralgia," she

"Do you feel like your husband?" "He said he felt it started that way, but I'm feeling better, and hope it is neuralgia or rheumatism. I don't mind dying, but don't want to die like John died."

'Are you well in every respect but that?"

"As well as I ever was."
There was some doubt in the minds of the country people about Wommack's case, though the effect is none the less marked on that ac-for miles around. Mrs. Wommack's case is being watched with keen interest, and the identity already shown between her case and her husband's is causing general alarm. A three-year-old negro girl, the daughter of Gus Starks, was bit the day after Mrs. Wom-mack was. The cat that did this was also bitten by the cat that bit Wommack. Three or four days ago John Parker, a six-year-old white boy, was bitten by another vicious cat. Several mules and horses have been bitten within the past few days.

If it is not hydrophobia, what is it?

Laurens Superior Court. Dublin, Ga., Fabruary 14.—[Special.]—The spring term of Laurens, county superior court adjourned yesterday, until the fourth Monday in July, after a session of seventeen days.

Judge Roberts presided and has given general satisfaction. The grand jury did two weeks of hard work, and a great many true bills were found.

The case of most interest to the county generally was that of Jones et al. vs. Dr. R. H. Hightower, more generally known as the Laurens county bridge question. The case was appealed from the court of ordinary. Judge Roberts heard the argument, which took over the court of the c

The evidence against George King is circumstantial but very strong. Joe King, the negro he is charged with having murdered, was an old and inoffensive negro, living on the same plantation with George King. This murder was committed about the first of Desame plantation with George King. Insimurder was committed about the first of December last. George King was seen coming from in the direction of the murder, and latter displayed some money known to have belonged to Joe King by the bag in which it was in. This body was found one week after the murder in a secluded spot in a body of woods on the plantation of Mr. H. J. Dennis. George King was immediately arrested and placed in jail, Both of these negroes will be tried for their lives in the March term of Putnam superior court. The other four prisoners are in for misdemeanors. They are all confined in the cage, and seem to be enjoying life as well as could be expected under the circumstances. Each one upon being asked his charge would say that he was "accused, but is as innocent as an angel in heaven."

But He Had a Narrow Escape from Going Into the Pen This Time.

Sandersville, Ga., February 14.—[Special.] The fact that a peniteniary guard came here last week after Jesse Robson, and went away without him has caused much speculation. An investigation develops that after Judge Hines had postponed the hearing of the argument upon the motion in order to give defendant's counsel opportunity to be present, Mr. Robson concluded to submit the motion without argument. The motion was overruled. Mr. Robson then determined to appeal to the supreme court. Week after week, however, passed and Mr. Robson neglected to make the bond required. Under this condition of affairs the ordinary, M. Newman, notified the principal keeper of the penitentiary that Robson was under sentence for two years. In response a guard from Old Town camp arrived here to take Robson to that camp. They went away as they came because Robson complied with the law, giving a bond.

Judge Kibbee Removes to Macon. HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., February 14.—[Special.]—This town will soon lose one of its best and most prominent citizens in the person of Judge C. C. ANOTHER CHASE.

It was reported last night that the "hyena" had again attacked Mr. Dunson's hogs, when our city marshal and others quickly called together the pack of hounds and started for the scene, one mile from town. Only a few minutes sufficed to strike a hot trail, and then excitement began. The whole town was aroused from its slumbers by the yelping of dogs and firing of guns and pistols. Our efficient marshal led the chase on horseback, while others followed in hacks and on foot. Many of our old citizens brought out their muskets of our old citizens brought out their muskets and horse pistols and run their breath out to keep up with the dogs. The chase grew more and more exciting, and at last the hounds came to a stand still in a skirt of woods back of the old Ben Hill place. The dogs had

The child, who was obout five years old, was the daughter of Lewis While, colored, whose wife cooks daughter of Lewis white, colored, whose wire cooks for Captain Clay. The mother went to get breakfast and left the girl in bed. About 8-o'clock she got up and dressed and made a fire, and while making it her dress caught on fire. She ran out of the house in a blaze, and Mr. Powell Clay and others put out the fire. She was burned so Ladly, though, that at 11 o'clock she died.

From the Irwinton, Ga., Appeal.

On last Friday morning a little daughter of Mr. J. W. Brooks, seven years of age, was burned to death. It was very cold, and some of the hands on the place had made a fire ou the edge of the yard, near the house. The little girl was standing by it when her dress caught. She was badly excited, and ran hurriedly to the house, but no one was there but her grandmother, an almost helpless lady. The little unfortunte, through terror and excitement, sprang from the house again in the yard, and then into the arms of Mr. Bloodworth for help. He at once removed from her person the remaining fragment of clothing, and called for something to wrap her up, and carried her back to the house. At the hour of cight she breathed her last.

THE HAUNTED VALLEY.

THE MYSTERIOUS ADVENTURES OF A HABERSHAM LOVER.

He Always Goes in a Run Across the Valley-The Strange Stories Which Have Been Told About It.

CLARKSVILLE, Ga., February 14 .- [Special. Among the mysteries that surround us at Clarksville is the courtship and adventures of one of our fellow townsmen, Mr. Abram. Abram made a noble soldier during the late war, and it is claimed that he taught an Indian school in the vicinity of the old Dr. Phillips farm, one mile north of here in the Soque valley. But back to the subject:

A LOVE TRAP.
After the flag of peace was uplifted between the north and south and the tomahawk was buried, Mr. Abram become deeply in love with one of the fair young ladies who lived just be-yond the valley and beyond the dreaded Beaverdam creek. This creek was not only the dread of the boys and chicken-hearted men. but the dread of even our hero, who had fought an hundred battles. Why should not a stout heart fail when such mysterious facts

THE HAUNTED VALLEY. Along this creek stands huge oaks and yellow poplar with vines of many varieties. There the sunlight seldom strikes the ground. The atmosphere is heavy at night and has a dampness like that from a tomb. The nearest dwelling is one-half mile away. The hunter avoids this valley, all claiming that when they by chance get into its bounds that the dogs refuse to hunt, and return to their masters whining and trembling with fear. Along by this creek is an old church, and around it is the homes of

The church and the dead, the damp and chilly air, and the dead, the damp and chilly air, and the murmuring waters that role slowly along could not make this place so dreary, but the story is that years ago old Becky Sage, the wandering idiot, was murdered here by a man whom she troubled in her wanderings. Her bones were found under the church, after hav ones were found under the church, after hav-ing been bleached many months. They were kept in Clarksville many years, in the store where your correspondent now occupies. Since these bones were found Beverdam valley has ever been, by night, the

DREAD OF BOTH MAN AND BEAST. Notwithstanding all this, Mr. Abram crosses Notwithstanding all this, Mr. Abram crosses this valley twice a week, and says that frequently he sees strange things, and claims that his brother became almost frightened to death at the self-same spot, and, as for himself, he has run during the past twenty years across this slough about 1,000 times, making a distance of over 200 miles, and counting the distance from his home and back that he has valked would run to over $000 miles. And walked would run to over-8,000 miles. And going further, the clerk of the superior court of Habersham openly asserts that Mr. Abram has cost the father of the lady about 200 meals at 25 cents, amounting to $500, and still the

From the Franklin, Ga., News.

We need better roads. Let Heard see that two representatives go to the road congress in Atlanta. If the congress does no more, it is probable that it will profitably memorialize the logislature, and will be certain to awake a long needed interest in the present system of road working if it must be continued.

From the Sparta, Ga., Ishmaelite. The object is a good one, and the Ishmaelite the objects a good one, and the Ishmaente hope that Hancock will be represented by four of her leading and most progressive citizens. The road system of the state is badly in need of overhauling and improvement, and the proposed congress is a step in the right direction.

From the Sandersville, Ga., Progress.

The condition of the public highways in icorgia is a matter that deserves attention and no eleter mode of considering the subject, than by a new polymer by the subject, than by a second general assembly of delegates from every county in the state, could have been suggested. There should be a meeting to elect delegates from Washington county at the courthouse on the first Tuesday in March (5th). We hope to see some of Washington's representative men etected as delegates and the matter given some attention. From the Guyton, Ga., Chronele.

This is a move that should enlist the interest and support of the entire state, and we earnestly hope our citizens will at an early day take such steps as is necessary to send two good men to Atlanta to represent Effingham county.

From the Madison, Ga., Madisonian.

An improved system of making and mainaining good public roads is sometiling needed in Georgis, and bids fair to take practical form in the proposed congress. This congress should be a representative body of practical men—men who are thoroughly abreast of the times, who know the necessity of a judicious and economic system of maintaining the public highways in good order, and have the ability for devising the method of its accomplishment. The whole state is interested in the improvement of the public roads, and no section of it more than middle Georgia.

From the McRae, Ga., Enterprise.

The road congress, which takes place in At The road congress, which takes place in Atlanta May 22d, 1889, for the purpose of formulating plans for permanent improved public or common roads throughout the entire state, is a step in the right direction, and one which will no doubt meet with the hearty approval of every husbandman in our grand commonwealth. A call has been made to every county in the state to sen't representatives to this congress who are enlightened and practical men, to assist in the deliberations on this subject. We feel assured Telfair will be at the front when there is any benefit to be derived.

Elsewhere we make extracts from severa state papers in regard to the proposed road con which is to convene in Atlanta in May. The state papers in regard to the proposed road congress which is to convene in Atlanta in May. The subject of better roads is being widely discussed now, but we cannot conjecture the outcome. Some six years age Lowndes county called loud and lustily for better roads and an improved method of working them. Grand jury after grand jury urged that something be done. The last one peremptorily instructed the then representative of the county to see to it that a new road law should be passed, for the county. The writer of these lines interpreted to be that representative, and he went to work to carry out his instructions with fear and trembling. But it so happened that Mr. Payne, of Catoosa, came forward, with an admirable bill which he proposed to have adopted as a local option measure, to be carried into effect in such counties only as wanted it—the grand jury speaking for the county. The bill was passed and became a law, and it was a good one—hot perfect, but better than the ancient and antiquated plan to which our county afterwards retained. The first grand jury which met in Lowndes put the new law into force. It was a new departure, something the people never saw before, and agoodly number of them stampeded as soon as they saw it. They took a great fright. A big racket was made, a bill filed, and some flatly refused to comply with the law. Pending the fuss over it the legislature met again and repealed the law, and Lowndes county lapsed back into the old wornoutr rut, and there she is today—stuck in the mud. Had the plan of the new law been carried out we would have today had new bridges and turnpiked roads, and such scenes and accidents as we have been witnessing at Troupville, the double bridges and at the Skipper bridge last week, would have been impossible. Our convicts would have been intilized and no one felt

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 15, 1889. President Northen's Admirable Address.

It will be many a day before THE CON-STITUTION prints an abler and better address than President Northen's message to the State Agricultural society, which appeared yesterday.

It is understood that Mr. Northen will be in the race for governor next year. His speech is an admirable platform on which to run. It is broad, statesmanlike, patriotic -and, what is unusual with platforms, it is practical and full of common sense. Politicians may talk about the danger of electing a class candidate, but no harm can come to the state, and no lessening to its dignity to elect any man governor who writes and speaks as the author of this address.

We do not intend to 'deprecate in this hearty and cordial praise of Mr. Northen's address the claims of any other candidate for governor, or to suggest our own preference in the matter. These are practical times, and demand practical statesmen. Mr. Northen has, consciously or unconsclously, formulated the platform on which he will go before the people-a thoughtful, earnest, painstaking study of the farming problem, and a determination to find the remedy, and, as far as the state's power will go, to apply it. That's a good platform! It will be well for Georgia if all the other candidates will formulate and stand on one so practical, so sensible, and addressed to so crying and pressing a need. We shall be glad to hear from the other candidates. In the meantime, it may be remarked that Mr. Northen's address will commend itself to thousands and thousands of citizens outside of the ranks of farmers-who recognize in the problem he is dealing with, the most important problem of the day.

THE Alliance Advocate, published at Montezuma, ($1 a year) is not only a good paper in itself, but is the only strictly alliance paper in the state. The alliance people, by common consent, seem to have selected the Advocate as their organ. It is a thoroughly good paper.

Knifing a Stalwart Democrat. The St. Louis Republic is thrusting its knife at the back of the democratic party at a very early stage in the proceedings toward getting the party in trim for the campaign

It has worked the party enough harm for awhile, and it should now be content to keep its hands off at least long enough to allow its dismembered forces to unite once more, after the November Waterloo, Never was an army in better condition than was that of the democracy when the Republic, and others of its kind, forced a division in the party as to policy, just on the eve of battle. Our ranks were unbroken, the soldiers enthusiastic, the leaders confident, and everything augured an overwhelming victory against the shattered forces of republicanism, which, until an issue was presented them over which to contest, had practically admitted defeat. It was the republican opportunity, and it rallied their forces as nothing else could have done, at the same time creating a discussion in the ranks of the democracy as to the inexpediency of planning a new campaign when victory was assured without resorting to experimental maneuvers. The result showed itself in our defeat, though we went into the fight holding every commanding position, and with what ought have been, the impregnable forts of the administration over-looking the battle-field. But the democratic lines were filled with officers even wearing the uniform of the enemy, and the result was, as might have been expected, that they joined their old comrades, and turned the tide i battle against us at the decisive point of the conflict.

But the Republic puts the whole blame of democratic defeat on Governor David B. Hill, of New York, and charges that he betrayed the national party to elect himself. "But for the treachery and trading in New York in Hill's interest, the elec toral vote of the state would have been given to Cleveland." To sustain this broad assertion, the Republic presents these fig-

In New York city the democratic vote for the two democrafte candidates for mayor was 183,000; for Hill it was 168,000, for Cleveland 162,000. In Brook-Hill it was 168,000, for Cleveland 162,000. In Brooklyn the democratic vote for Cleveland was 79,000; the vote & Harrison was 67,000; for Hill, 80,000; for Warner Maler, the republican candidate for governor, only 66,000. Even in Brooklyn it is to be noticed that Harrison gains the 1,000 voteo on Cleveland that Miller loses to Hill. In New York city Hill's plurality over Miller is 69,000, and Harrison's gain on Cleveland corresponds, if not exactly, still clearly enough with Miller's loss. The evidence of the figures is not of itself conclusive, but the figures, taken in connection with the vote for the two democratic candidates for mayer in New York, the normal vote for governor, and the vote in the congressional districts, show that the state is democratic when there is no throat-cutting.

It appears that Cleveland fell only 6,000 votes behind Hill in New York city, but Hill got 17,000 less than the democratic candidates for mayor; consequently, if there was any trading here, Hill clearly failed to get any material benefit from it. His 6,000 lead of Cleveland can undoubtedly be attributed to local issues which made Hill particularly strong in New York erty. In Brooklyn, out of a vote of 150,000, ran only 1,000 ahead of Cleveland, and Cleve ad's majority in Brooklyn was 9,000 short I that of four years ago. Clearly, if Hill traded here, and his trading was the result of Cleveland's loss, he did it with loss to himself. It looks here as if Cleveland pulled Hill down, instead of Hill diminishing his vote. Harrison's gain on Cleveland cannot be charged to any insincerity on Hill's part, and it is exceedingly ungenerous in the Republic and others, to place the burden of their fault on the shoulders of one who tried so hard to neutralize it, as did Governor Hill. He made an open, straightforward, marly fight for the national and on several occasions sacrificed his own interests for it, notably at the time he left democracy. His gain was the result of the earnestness of his democracy, and Cleveland's loss was the result of a Ladly planned campaign.

It is all over now, and there is no help for it. The best thing to do is for the party to unite and push forward once more for democratic success. Instead of doing its part toward bringing this about, the Republic seems to be doing its utmost to stir up strife in party ranks and create discontent and division where there should be nothing but unity of purpose and concert of

Without the vote of New York, and Governor Hill is very close to it, the party cannot look with confidence to the next campaign.

Therefore, why abuse Governor Hill?

Where to Draw the Line. The New York Sun wildly objects to a bill to establish in that state to give free instruction to young men and women in the arts of milking cows, making butter and cheese, and managing a dairy. The trouble about this bill, so far as the Sun is concerned, seems to be the fact that it provides for a long list of new state officials. This ought to be a fatal objection if the list is as long as the Sun says, but there is no room to doubt that such schools would do great good.

If there is any sense or reason in the public school system, or in the system of the state universities, then it must be difficult to draw the line. Mississippi is teaching her girls a great many practical things in finitely more important than playing the piano and fol-de-rol painting. Is there anything wrong in this? If so, we could wish that Georgia had nerve to go so far

In Mississippi, also, as our special correspondent stated some days ago, the boys and young men are taught how to farm, how to milk and how to make cheese. What is wrong here? Nothing whatever except the limits of the appropriation. Does the think that a faint knowledge of the three R's constitutes an education? What authority is to draw the line here? Who is to say what an education consists of? When every human being's mind is framed or formed on the same dead level then it will be time enough to say how far education by the state should go. Georgia has recently organized a technological school, but there is no machinery such as the Sun describes. Perhaps this is because methods are simpler here than in the empire state of bribery.

THE tobacco trust is a bust. The public only made two chews of it.

The Deadly Ax.

The ax figures in too many of our southern murders.

It was used with horrible and destructive effect in the Woolfolk tragedy, in the Hawes slaughter, and in the killing of the old lady in Cobb county, the other day.

The ax is naturally the most innocent and honest looking implement of industry that was ever handled by a hard-working toiler. The sound of the woodsman's ax has guided many a lost traveler into the right path. In the hands of the pioneer it has subdued the wilderness. This one simple tool has done more for civilization, industry and peace than anything that was ever fashioned out of wood and iron.

Yet even the best things may come to the basest uses. In the hands of brutish fiends the ax is a terror. The robber tramp, the idnight prowler and the sneaking derer find in it the very weapon they need. It is not against the law to carry it. A man may swing it over his shoulder and walk along a country road, and its possession is regarded as a badge of respectability. Then too, it is a handy thing, sure to be found by the desperado who is roaming about a coun-

Chandler's Involuntary Retirement. After the 4th of March next, William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, than whom there never was a more unfit member of the United States senate, will be at liberty to reflect of the southern question while resting among his native mountains, for with the present congress his license to parade himself in the senate as a politicial assassin

It is a pity that Chandler's involuntary retirement cannot be attributed to the fact that the people of his state do not agree with him in his venomous hatred of the south. On the other hand, 'as much as we regret to see it, it appears that he fairly represents the sentiment of New Hampshire republicans on that question, and if sectional bitterness had been made the qualification in the selection of his successor, he would have been entitled to, and would have received, another term.

But, somehow or other, Chandler has lost his grip on his party at home, and the element in control is emphatic in its opposition to him. By a recent change in the constitution of New Hampshire, the legisla-ture does not meet until June. As Chandler's term expires on the 4th of March, the governor was called upon to appoint his uccessor for the interim before the legislature elects, and has named General Gilman Marston for the position. The new senator is seventy years old, and has been for many years a prominent figure in the political history of the state.

Of course Chandler's friends tried to force the governor to appoint him, but Governor Sawyer belongs to the anti-Chandler element, and efused to do it. It is said that Chandler had every republican United States senator to write to the governor urging his appointment, and that every possible influence was brought to bear in his behalf.

The new senator will occupy his seat for he extra session, which, it now seems, will certainly be called for Arril, and thus the country will be reffered for a time, at least, his campaign to speak in Indiana for the of the distusting spectacle which Chandler presents in the senate.

Dr. Gallingher, now in congress from New Hampshire, appears to be the choice of the republican leaders in his state as Marston's successor, and it seems that he will have the inside track on Chandler before the legislature, General Marston not being in the race to succeed himself. If reports are true, Gallingher is of the same stamp as Chandler, but the country can find consolation in the idea that anything in the nature of a change will be an improvement on New Hampshire's present representation.

GENERAL HARRISON is now engaged in sandpapering his inaugural address.

A DISGRUNTLED Georgian says that with mustard plaster and two green flies he can reproduce the climate of Florida.

Mr. Blaine's Views.

It is given out from Baltimore that Mr. James G. Blaine, who was offered the portfolio of the department of state a few days after the election of General Harrison was announced, has had an extended conversation with a North Carolina friend with whom he has been intimate for a number of

To this old friend Mr. Blaine expressed his deep interest in the development of the south and his earnest hope of a settlement of the race problem in a way that will be to the best interests of the whole people. That solution, according to the report, must be left for the south to work out for itself.

We should be glad to know that Mr. Blaine made such remarks. They embody an idea that every southern man knows to be true. The race problem is made a more dangerous problem every day by the threats of such men as "Bill" Chandler to the effect that the republican party proposes to revive the old methods of reconstruction and settle the race problem according to party and political methods.

As a matter of course, such threats amount to nothing, but they stir up bad blood in both races and work infinite harm in various ways. If Mr. Blaine is correctly reported he could do a great work for the whole country by convincing the people of the south that the success of the republican party does not necessarily mean an attack on the social organism of this section.

The remarks credited to him in the report from which we have quoted are the essence of common sense. If the race problem is ever settled with a due regard for the interests of the whole people the settlement will have to be made by the south itself.

FOR religious people Lent will begin on the 6th of March. For the democrats it will begin on the 4th.

Amnesty but a Half Measure.

From the Macon Evening News. Senator Colquitt is ably assisted, or rather lead, in this movement to pardon internal revenue law violators, by Congressman Candler, It goes without saying that he has the sympathy of the vast majority of Georgia people who pity the men that have been dragged away from home and im-prisoned for violation of a law that was a mere exedient to raise money. But the question arises, if these men ought not to But the question arises, it these men origin to to be in prison—if they should be pardoned as Senator Colpuits recommends, ought others to be sent to take their place? The same reason that exists for releasing a man who has been in prison a day for violating an internal revenue law will be as good norrow for one who was placed there this mornng. Where is the sense, the economy, the good and appealing for general amnesty the next?

There is a shorter way than general amnesty to guarantee the mountain people of Georgia and Carolina and Tennessee their liberties and their natural rights, and that is to repeal the statutes that interfere with them. An appeal for general amnesty in the case of violators of the internal revenue law is an argument for the repeal of the law. Logically, if it is a just law, the people who disregard it should be punished. If it is an unjust

Senator Colquitt, of course, does not admit this, but he unconsciously weakens the cause of the in ternal revenue when he states that no pers on (withth his knowledge) of notoriously bad character is now in prison for violations of the law, that none of the offenses were aggravated, and that many of the imprisoned people were very poor and broke the law to earn a living for large and dependent fam-

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The State School Commissioner. Columbus, Ga., February 13, 1889.—Editors Constitution: I have been teaching in Georgia, my native state, more than a score of years, and feel a very deep interest in its educational affairs When the lamented Dr. Orr died, I wondered whom the governor could find who was fully competent to worthily wear the mantic of this distinguished school official. Judge Hook was selected to succeed him. I have watched his administration closely from its very beginning to the present, and am fully satisfied that no state in the union has a better school commissioner than Georgia has. Every official act of Judge Hook, as school commissioner has been jud clous, wise and statesman-like. His administration has been so successful, so progressive that he has won the confidence of all thinking people of Georgia. The legislators, who at the last session of the legislature voted such a liberal sum of money for the cause of common school education, gave expression not only to their personal views on the subject but reflected the sentiment of their constituents. Judge Hook's report to said legislature was a paper of unusual excellence, showing that he fully comprehended our present educational status, and understood our present and future needs.

The questions sent out from his office, to be submitted to applicants for teachers' positions, have been remarkably well chosen. Not difficult enough to shot out any properly qualified teacher from teaching, but sufficiently difficult to force persons desiring to teach to properly qualified teacher from teaching, but sufficiently difficult to force persons desiring to teach to properly qualified teacher from teaching, but sufficiently difficult to force persons desiring to teach to properly qualified teacher from teaching, but sufficiently difficult to force persons desiring to teach to properly qualified teacher from teaching, but sufficiently difficult to force persons desiring to teach to properly qualified teacher from the sist the teachers of it he pupil," to a great extent. With the strong public sentiment in Georgia now in favor of public education, and with such an efficient state commissioner as we now have, there is a grand a very deep interest in its educational affairs When the lamented Dr. Orr died, I wondered

The Bookwalter Steel Process

In a recent conversation with the Hon. John W. Bookwalter, the Ohio millionaire and inventor, I heard him describe his wonderful new process of making steel. And the wender is wrough by a device so apparently simple that it seems amazing that it was never discovered before. The Bessemer process was considered one of the greatest of modern times, and the Bookwalte process as far sproasses it as the Bessemer process did all the former crude methods of puddling. In the Bessemer process the air enters an aperture at the bottom of the furnace and is forced through the moiten iron from below, the boiling mass being in constant and equal commotion throughout, and the scoria, or impurities, which naturally rise to the surface, are reintegrated and mixed with the forming steel as it flows out of the furnace. In the Bookwaiter process the air enters the furnace from one side, and the great purity and superiority of the steel depends upon a thing so simple as the angle of the aperture through which the air is forced flot the moiten from. The scoria being lighter than the iron, rises like cream to the surface, and the air is forced into the furnace at such an angic—just below the surface—as to skim the melies mass of rising scoria, and set the mass revolving in the furnace. As if revolves, the scoria constantly accumulates upon the side of the furnace, opposite to the air rule and the purified and perfect steel is let out below. It can be run into moids for fine pisto's and knives, or heavy field ure at the bottom of the furnace and is fo walter process for making steel, will prove not only one of the most wonderful inventions of modern times, but one of the most important in the world."

M. G. Robert, a talented Frenchman, shares the honors and owns the patent with Mr. Bookwalter. For years Mr. Robert worked in vain to perfect his process and secure his patent, till he met Mr. Bookwalter in London, who seeing the great value of the process, if it could be perfected and made practicable on a large scale joined him in labor and experiment. They both worked with all the energy of genius till it was a perfect success and introduced into this country. They have furnished much of the steel used in the construction of the celebrated Eiffel tower in Paris, and are now the center of eager capitalists and anxious steel syndicates in the United States.

Mr. Bookwalter is already famous as the inveator of a steem engine—a man of travel and culture, and several times a millionaire, and this new undertaking will not only add to his fame, but increase his welath beyond the dreams of avarice. Again it is due to the genius, enterprise and sacily of an American, that the world possesses another great invention, which both improves and cheapens one of the most important factors in modern civil zatior,

FIVE LIVES LOST.

Ex-Consul Jones and Four Otles Buried in Falling Sand.

EL Paso, Tex., February 11 .- An accident resulting in the death of an ex-United States consul to Chihuahua, Mex., and three of his children—Abie, Tinkey and Dudley—and Wade Witt, the 10-year-old son of a neighbor, occurred at Ysleta, Tex., yesterday afternoon.

The particulars are as follows: The children of the vicinity had a cave in a sand embankment. It was their habit to report there for amusement. It was looked upon as common property, and forma lengthy period the young of a number of families made it a pracice to gather in it and indulge in merry ing and games. Any experienced one could have told that the place was dangerous, and it would seem that the different parents would have prevented their little ones from going in it, but only one family is known to have done this, and the children did as they pleased.

On Sunday afternoon six children were at play in the cave, when down came tons of sand. Three were totally buried and the play in the cave, when down came tons of sand. Three were totally buried and the others managed to escape. James and his son Dudley saw what occurred and rushed to the spot and began digging, but the chap-ter was not yet ended, and another large volume of sand came down and completel buried both. The news became quickly spread over town and the scene which followed beggars description. Hundreds rushed to the scene and woo and excitement were depicted on every face. The relatives of the entombed were frantic.

WILL GARRETT SHOT. POPULAR ATLANTA DRUMMER HURT AT NEWNAN.

CLAIMED THAT IT WAS ACCIDENTAL

Mr. Garrett Shot Himself in the Virginia House, at Newnan Yesterday Morning-It Was at First Thought to be an Attempt at Suicide, But This

About ten o'clock yesterday morning Mr. J. W. Garrett, traveling salesman for Frank E. Block, shot himself—either accidentally or intentionally—at the Virginia house, in Newnan.

The wounded man was discovered by Mrs.

Manley, the proprietress of the hotel, who was attracted to Mr. Garrett's room by the report Mr. Garrett was found lying on his bed with Smith & Wesson pistol at his side and the blood streaming from an ugly wound in the left breast, about an inch and a half above the nipple. He was conscious when discovered, and requested that a doctor be called in at once, and that his wife be telegraphed for,

When the physicians arrived they examined the wound and pronounced it a very dangerous though not necessarily fatal one. They did all in their power to relieve the suffering of the patient, and remained with him all day.

After thoroughly examining the wound the physicians ascertained that the ball had struck rib and glanced off, but were unable to tell whether it had entered the lung or lodged in

Mr. Garrett was quite a favorite in Newnan, and during the day a number of friends called to see him and expressed the hope that his wound would not prove fatal. In the afternoon he was resting as well as could be expected, and had recovered sufficiently to drink a glass of milk and take some other light food.

When the news of Mr. Garrett's condition reached Atlanta it created quite dition reached Atlanta it created quite a sensation, as he was very popular among the business men of the city. He has been traveling for Mr. Frank E. Block for the past six years, and when he returned from his trip on last Saturday afternoon, he went at once to Mr. Block's office. While there he did not seem to be laboring under any mental depression, but on Monday morning when he reported for duty he complained tolysome of his friends of having a very bad attack of the blue, but no one, of course, suspected him of contemplating suicide.

For some time past Mr. Garrett has been attacked with a very painful kiney complaint, and it fines the pain was so severe that he had been in the habit of taking opiates to ease it, under the advice of his physician. One theory of the shooting is that while suffering with an attack of this malady, and in the absence of other relief, he determined to end the agony by taking his life.

Mr. Garrett's wife and brother, Mr. Henry W. Garrett's wife and brother at 1:20 for his hedside, and arrived in Newman at 2:30. Before Mr. Garrett left he promised to telegraph Mr. Bleck if he found his brother's wound was likely to prove fatal, but as no message had been reserved up to a late hour last night, it is supposed that he is out of danger.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

How the Custom Originated and Something of Its Celebration.

Yesterday was February the 14th, and is called by custom St. Valentine's Day, but the truth is that the good St. Valentine, whose name it bears, never had anything whatever to with its observances,

Many centuries before the Christian era it was the custom of the Romans to hold great feasts in honor of Pan and June during February, and from this month the latter go got her other names of Februata, Februalis and Februlla. These festivals were called the Lupercalia, the feast of Lupercal, as Shaksabbreviates in Mark Antony's famou stump speech over the bleeding form of the

One ceremony of the Lupercolia was the drawing from a box small tablets bearing the names of young women by the nobla Roman youths, lottery fashion. The young man who drew the name of a young woman was in honor bound to be her attendant until twelve months had passed, bringing another Lupercalia, or a new drawing, It often hapned, however, that the constant association of the young persons changed the short engagement into real ones.

The early fathers substituted the festivities of St. Valentine's Day for those of the Lupercalia, but retained the date. But the form of the matrimonial lottery of the Lupercalia was modified by substituting the names of particular saints to be drawn instead of those of the maidens. From this old usage sprang the custom still in vogue in some Catholic countries of selecting on St. Valentine's Day for the ensning year a patron saint, called a valentine.

But this did not work long with the young men and maidens, who found more fun and pleasure in drawing each other than dead and pleasure in drawing each other than dead and gene saints—and even to this day, in the rural districts of England and Scotland, it is customary for the young people to draw lots for a valentine.

The custom of exchanging love notes on St. Valentine's Day dates back to the Lupercalie, when the Peners young veous proper over dead.

The falling off began with the introduction of Christmas, New Year's and Easter cards—the number of these transmitted by post has increased in proportiod as valentines have disnipitated. ave diminished.

Despite these stern historical facts a large number of valentines were sent and received in Atlanta yesterday. All things considered, nowever, the Valentine cards, both sentimental and comic, were most popular. These cards are variations of the Easter card and bid fair to supplant in time the highly artistic and opensive sentimental valentines and the gro

THE LOCAL STAGE.

Sweet little Patrice and an excellent company gave what was a most enjoyable performance of a thrilling comedy drama entitled "Lost in New York," at DeGive's last night.

The drama is not altogether new, but it has many new features, and is really strong throughout. Theseene is laid in Newl York city, and the scenery is especially fine. This is particularly true of the third act, where we have, for the first time, the amous tank of real water.

It was the first visit of the tank to Atlanta, and a great deal of curiosity had been expressed concern-ing this latest bit of stage realism. It was a success in every particular.

The seene showed the foreground of the Ward's Island asylum, with a view of the east water front of New York city. In the middle-ground was the tank, the background being so arranged that it was absolutely impossible to tell where the real water ended and the painted water began. In this scene there was a steamboat so-called-it was quite a re spectable tug boat—and a row boat, which is ma-nipulated by the heroine. Among the other scenery which was interesting to those people who are familiar with New York scenery, was the view of Grammercy park, with the home of Samuel J. Tilden and other New York millionaires in the background. The play is beautifully staged and the cast is of all the stage soubrettes, is the heroine, and right clever she is throughout. She is sweet, pretty and accomplished, and is, of course, a great favorite. The other members of the company are very good, indeed, Among the best are Mr. Radeliffe, Mr. Wright, Mr. Fessler, Mr. Jos. Paige Smith, Miss Barclay, Miss Sutton, Miss Atchison and little Baby Stover. All fill their parts well, and as a whole the company is were good.

whole, the company is very good.

The play is thrilling and interesting throughout, containing besides the scenic effect, a very strong comedy element, which was highly enjoyed. It is well worth seeing, and will doubtless do a good business to hight and at the two performances on Seturdey.

Atlanta is going to have the phenomenal access of the American stage, Dixey, in his world renowned speciacular, musical, entrancing and bewitching burlesque, Adonis. For 640 consecutive nights in New York, for 120 nights in Boston, for 100 nights in London, our famous comedian has ap-peared in that play to the applause of immense audiences. The production will be given in Atlanta with the same great original cast, the same gorgeous costumes, the same superb scenic effects with which it was presented in New York by a company of sixty artists, The chorus alone number thirty-two, and their singing, their grouping, their evolutioning are unrivaled in their grouping, their evolutioning are unrivaled in variety, in elegance, in artistic grace. Nothing in the history of the American stage can compare with the raj 11 success of Dixey, and his popularity once obtained has never ceased to remain at the same height. Everywhere he goes, every time he comes back in a town he formerly visited the theaters cannot accommodate the masses of people anxious to see and listen to the favorite American comedian.

His further repertoire will be confined to the plays in which he has already achieved a success.

ST. VALENTINE'S BALLS. THE DAY AS ENJOYED BY GEORGIA

SOCIETY PEOPLE. A BRILLIANT EVENT IN AUGUSTA

The Dixie Club Gave an Elegant German at the Kimball Last Night-Other Society News, Both Local and General-A Ball at Concordia.

Augusta, Ga., February 14.—[Special.]—
The annual ball of the St. Valentin society tonight, at Masonic temple, always as social event of importance throughout the state, was held tonight. All preparations were made on the most elaborate scale. Owing to the difficulty in the matter of obtaining larger quarters, the l'st of invitations was greatly curtailed, and about one hundred and fifty couples graced the floors or looked on from balconies. Besides about every prominent Augusta family being represented, there was a liberal sprinkling of visitors from Georgia and South Carolina. Augusta, Ga., February 14.-[Special.]-

Dancing began about 10 o'clock. Music was furnished by Bearden archestra. The society had awarded the contract of preparing the supper to the Woman's exchange, and the verdict of all who sat down to the sumptous feast amid tropical plants and flowers, was that the organization had done its work well. The only two Atlanta persons seen by The Constitution reporter were Miss Carry Crane and Mr. Max Adams A dreary incessant rain fell throughout the evening, but did not dampen the exhuberance within Savannah is well represented on the floor. This bal can be ranked along with those of the past, and this is praise indeed, for the St. Valentines have made an enviable reputation for like occasions in the past throughout the south.

The Valentine ball given at the Kimball ast evening by the Dixie club was an exceedingly pleasant affair.

The ball-room was decorated especially for the occasion and the party was perfect in all its appointments. The costumes of the ladies were beautiful and Atlanta's fair young society women never ap-ments. The costumes of the ladies were beautiful and Atlanta's fair young society women never appeared to better advantage.

Among the guests of the club present were:
Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Howell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Waiter Rhett, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke, Mrs. Raine, Mrs. W. D. Grant, Mrs. C. P. N. Barker, Mrs. W. B. Lowe, Mrs. W. M. Dickson, Captain and Mrs. Lowry, Mrs. Loyd, Miss Speer, of Macon, Miss Effle Howell, Miss Adeline Adair, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Adeline Adair, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Adeline Adair, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Colle Markham, Miss, Colloe Belle White, Miss Kate Silvey, Miss May Loyd, Miss Julia Lowry Clarke, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Collare, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Collare, Miss Annie Hunniwill, Miss Hanny Holcombe, Miss Garrett, of Knoxville; Miss Selden, of Memphis; Miss 1da High tower, Miss Lyon; Messrs, John Grant, Martin, of Cartersville; James Johnson, William Prescot; Phillip Wilson, Stephen Hook, Douglass Winkle, of Cartersville; Harry Malone, Robert Foreman Pryor Mynatt, James Eddleman, Will Speer, John Raine, Quill Farrar, Tom Peeples, Harry Stockdell, Joseph Nash, Vol Talliafero, Lee Hardin, James Stewart, of Macon, Hugh Adams, Robert Farrar, Edward Perples, Harry Snook, George Hadley, of Toledo.

The valentine ball of the Tube Rose Social club was given at Concordia hall last evening under the most favorable auspices. The hall was beauti-fully decorated, the music was fine, and the dancing, conducted under admirable management, was most enjoyable. This social club includes a large number of well known young people, and the party last night was one of the most successful. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Will Blackman, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Pease, Mr. and Mts. J. Campbell, Mrs. Dillingham. Miss Katle Bryan, Miss Annie Burton, Miss Ida Arnold, Miss Manly, Miss Dunlap, Miss Wylie, and Messrs. Wofford, Ma honey, Petesson, Moffet and Very many others, Two prizes were given for proficiency in dancing—one, a special prize given to the club by Mr. S. Patterson, was won by Mr. Jack Waters and Miss Mamie Wright. The other, given by the club to the best waltzer outside of the club, was won by Mr. Jack Johns and Miss Emma Long.

Mrs. Dudley, Du Bose, left, vectoraley, often.

Mrs. Dudley DuBose left yesterday afternoon for her home in Virginia. A large number of her admirers were down to the depot to bid her good-by, and her departure was the cause of great regret on the part of the bost of friends she has made in Atlanta. No lady in society will be more sincerely missed.

Mrs. Sidney Holland, Jr., tendered a reception to a number of friends yesterday afterroo in honor of her friend, Mrs. Bain. The affi-an exceedingly pleasant one, the house and beautifully decorated for the occasion. Mrs. J. H. Porter gave an elegant ladies' uncheon to Miss Neely and Miss Selden at I o'clock vesterday afternoon.

The long table in the diningroom which seated the fourteen ladies present, was most uniquely and exquisitely decorated. The center piece was a glass swan placed on a large round glass mirror and filled with roses, and at one end was a stand containing a rare and beautiful Chinese azealea, the growing plant being covered with exquisite pink and white blossoms. A cut glass stand filled with calla lilies and ferns, and the table contained many other beautiful ornaments in cut glass and silver, and the most delightful menu was daintily served in exquisite china and glass. Mrs. Porter's enter-tainments are always noted for their elegance, and this was one of her most beautiful hucheons. Those present were Miss Neely and Miss Selden, Mrs. Jodson, Mrs. Walter Rhett, Mrs. Robert Lowry Mrs. Wellborn Hill, Mrs. Dickson, Miss Nellie In-man, Miss Julia Lowry, Miss Mary Ella Reid, Miss Eula Maddox, Miss Lily Orme, Miss Mary Marsh.

Mr. Albert D. Brockett and his bride, are Mr. Albert D. Brockett and his bride, are the guests of Mr. Brockett's cousin, Dr. C. T. Brockett, No. 1 Baltimore Block. On Tuesday last Mr. A. D. Brockett and Miss Haitle, daughter of Rev. J. M. Nourse, were united in marriage at the home of the bride in Alexandria, Va.

Mr. H. F. Emery left for New York yesterday to be one of Dr. Barnett's party which sails on Saturday for the Holy Land.

its valuable property. It could never have falled in more faithful hands. From the Augusta, Ga., News.

Augusta had the opportunity last evening of extending a social welcome to the senior United States senator from Georgia and his family. It is not often that Hon. Joseph H. Brown leaves his place in the sanate, and nothing less than the marriags of his son and namesake could have taken him away from Washington at this time. He came, however, on this pleasant errand, and the warmth of his welcome and the universal courtesy extended on this occasion must have satisfied him that their is ample reason for his strength with the people of his state. They may differ with him on questions of national policy, and less fortunate men may object to his powerful hold on the political affairs of the state, but when the sum and substarce of the matter is sifted, everybody agrees that the senior senator from Georgia has the wisest head and the longest pole in the procession. His visit last night had nothing to do with politics, and he left this morning too early to make many marks on the slate, but those who met him were glad of the privilege, and all who grasped the hands of the genial and gitted member of his tamily felt that Augusta was fortunate in entertaining such clever and characteristic people. Sons and daughters intertit the striking qualities of their worthy parents, and the empire state will recognize them all as public spirited and valued clizers.

GOSSIP OF THE DAY.

"I remember perfectly that affair mentioned "I remember perfectly that affair mentioned in today's Constitution, when Henry Hillyer and I belped to arrest an escaped convict," said Captain E. M. Roberts yesterday. "There was a slight error in the account—that which made Mr. Hillyer my clerk. He was at that time, if I remember rightly, a clerk of the level time, for the county and I. member of the legislature from this county and I was down in that part of the city showing him some land which I had for sale. That was a squally epicode, I can tell you. I never saw so mad a mob. There were pistols and knives on all sides, and it looked for a time as if somebody would certainly be killed. And let me tell you, I never saw braver men under trying circumstances than were Mr. Hillyer and Officers Raitle and Cason. han were Mr. Hillyer and Officers Baird and Cason that day. They got their man, and without any bloodshed, too."

President Wharton, of the Southern league, will visit Atlanta in person. It seems that Mr Gifford wanted to be paid for coming to Atlanta, and he and the New Orleans people cannot agree on this point.

A pretty fight, from a sporting standpoint, must that McAuliffe-Myers contest, which took place on Wednesday, have been. Judging from any other standpoint, there was a good deal of brutality in

Mr. C. W. Brown, manager of the editorial lepartment of D. Appleton & Co., is in the city for a short stay. Yesterday Mr. D. S. Appleton, son of D. Appleton, the founder of the louse, reached Atlants. He was accompanied by his nephew Atlanta.
Mr. Ed. Appleton. President-elect Harrison received a Georminent republican Jackson McHenry. A boy printer was convicted of drunkenness, fined $5,75 and sent to the stockade to work out his fine. As soon as he had served his term, he was sent off to jail to be held until he testifies where he bought the liquor which made him drunk. He has no way of furnishing the $100 bond required, and must stay in jail, although he has no recollection of where he obtained the liquor. Is this right? "While you are writing up the Abbott or chestra, why don't you touch up this alleged or-chestra which belongs to the operalhouse?" The speaker was a well known Atlantian—a sufferer.

"Talk about orchestras, that is the worst of them "Talk about orenestras, that is the worst or that all. They play the same stuff there that they did twelve years ago, and it seems to me that they get worse instead of better."

That's one man's opinion, Is he alone in it?

Captain Joyner and his men are kept busy these merry February days, Many alarms but fortunately no big fires.

Father McMahon, who leaves the church of 88. Peter and Paul to accept a charge in Savannah, leaves behind many sincere friends. His work in the northern part of the city has been one for good.

Frank Mayo, with the best company and best plays seen in the south in years, played to empty benches on Mouday and Tuesday. The "Two Johns," with a show about that was as bad as could be imagined, and a company that was worse, did a good business.

President Jackson has resigned his place, and his resignation was accepted so promptly that he must have had an idea that it was looked for, expected and gladly welcomed.

Hon, L. F. Livingston is now acting president and is correctly reported as being a candidate for governor. The Griffin Sun says he is one of the best men in Georgia.

Now there is another report that ex-President Jackson also has the gubernatorial bee buzzing about his bonnet—but we know of no connection between this fact and his resignation.

A strong effort will be made to elect Mr. Living ston president of the Alliance, and no doubt, if elected, and he becomes a candidate for governor, this endorsement of the Alliance will be used for all it is worth in his behalf.

We must contess that at this point the plot thickness ow ecannot predict just what the outcome will be. NEW YORK. February 14.—The western railroad situation had a much better aspect today and this caused an improved feeling in the stock market here. Chicago advices were hopeful and grangers and confers became very strong. Other influences were at work in giving a confident tone to buying. The bears made several unsuccessful attacks upon Burlington, each of which was followed by a raily all over the list. Specialties were again conspicutions and some marked gains were made among them, while the general list was firm but without any very strong tendency either way, and final changes are in most cases for insignificant amounts. The close was active and firm to strong generally with fractional advances. Bales aggregated 256,000 shares.

NEW YORK, February 14.—(Special.)—Henry Clews & Co.'s circular on the cotton market says: Spot cotton in Liverpool was steady with sales of 10,000 bales at unchanged prices. Futures opened at a decline of 1-64, but gathered strength from the start. The second cable reported prices 1.64 higher than last night, while the closing was firm at a fur-ther advance of 1.64. Our market opened 2 to 4 points higher and on good buying for both long and short account. A further gain of 4 to 6 points was made, a small portion of this was lost at the end o the day on the selfing out of early purchases, but the close was steady at a net advance over last night's prices of 5 to 6 points. Receipts were 15,538 against 19,945 bales this day last week. Southern market are steady and quiet with puotations re duced 1-16 in most of them. JOHN S. ERNEST. NEW ORLEANS, February 14-[Special.]-Glenny A Violett, in their cottes circular, says: Liverpool gave a surprice today by advancing 2-64 and closing firm, although the indications foreshadowed a lower market there, as receipts were heavy and other weak features besides. There is apparently a bullish el ent there strong enough to control the market, if ly temporarily. New Orleans reacted 5 and New ally temporarily. New Orleans reacted 5 and New fork advanced 6 points, both closing steady. Mr. Dodge of the agricultural bureau explains in a tele gram to the secretary of our exchange that his report issued on the 11th inst., showing 34 per cent of the crop markeled means that that the remaining 16 per cent was not only on plantations but in in visible towns, also refuting the claim of some that it meant on plantations only. This therefore would indicate the crop 6,823,000 bales, but according to the long crop people, they assume a discrepancy in the amount marketed and estimate the crop 7,180,. 600 bales. Reccipts today 3,000 more than last year.

000 bales. Receipts today 3,000 more than last year. Spots here steady; sales 1,750 bales; middling 9.9-16. GLENNY & VIOLETT. NEW YORK, February 14-Hubbard, Price & Co. In their cotton circular to-day, say: The opening with but a slight gain and comparatively lighter movement at ports caused our market to slowly advance until the decline of the past few days had been fully recovered and the market steady at the best prices with but little trade.

NEW YORK, February 14—The petroleum market opened firm at 8934c, and declined to 8934 in early trading. A sharp turn was then caused on buying by the Standard oil brokers and on the announce-ment of an advance in the refined market advanced sharply and sold at 91%, closing strong at 91%. A covering of shorts on the discovery of an arror in the reported production helped the advance.

WITHOUT A CHARTER.

COMPTROLLER - GENERAL WRIGHT ON THE GEORGIA MUTUAL AID.

WHAT PRESIDENT VERDERY SAYS.

An Insurance Company Which Under Legal Advice the Payment of Taxes—On Being Called to Taw by the Comptroller-General It Concludes to Suspend Operations.

The Georgia Mutual Aid society will be re-ported to Solicitor O'Bryan for prosecution. It is a life insurance company, and in addition to giving death benefits gives sick and accident benefits. Mr. J. J. Verner is the president and Mr. L. D. Simmons is the secretary

But the feature is, according to the comptroller general, this:

The Georgia Mutual Aid has no charter, has no license, pays no taxes, has never had a charter, has never had a license, has never paid any taxes, and still the indications are that it is doing business right along.

This information comes from Comptroller-General Wright, who says, also, that this com-pany has never made any statement, as required by law.

When all these facts came to the knowledge of the comptroller-general he called the company

Yesterday Secretary and Treasurer Sim mons was interviewed by Comptroller Wright and stated that his brother, who is a lawyer, told-him that the Mutual Aid society did not need any charter to do business The comptroller says that this is no excuse at all. This company, like all other insurance companies doing business in Georgia, is amen-able to the law, and the penalties prescribed for violating the same are set down in 4310 of the

In other words, an insurance company which does business without a charter, is guilty of a

Comptroller-General Wright will report the Georgia Mutual Aid society to Solicitor Frank O'Bryan, the prosecuting officer of the city

The comptroller-general has in his possession a blank certificate of membership of the Georgia Mutual Aid, which shows that J. J. Verner is president and L. D. Simmons secretary and treasurer.

Georgia Mutual Aid, which shows that all of Verner is president and L. D. Simmons secretary and treasurer.

The Georgia Mutual Aid has an office on Broad street, but the name could not be found in the last city directory.

Mr. James J. Verner was interviewed in reference to the above last night, and said:

"In relation to the Georgia Mutual Aid society I have only this to say: We did not think that there was enough money in doing business if we incurred the expense of getting a charter, paying taxes, etc., and consulted Mr. C. J. Simmons, our attorney, about it. He stated that it was his impression that we did not need a charter to conduct a mutual aid business on the sick and accident benefit plan. As Computroller General Wright has notified us that the Georgia Mutual Aid society is amenable to the law governing regular insurance companies, we have decided to suspend operations. It was not our intention to violate any law whatever, and in doing business without a charter we were simply acting in accordance with legal advice. That's all."

GOUNOD DISCUSSED.

A Splendid Evening With the Literature and Art Circle.

Asplendid Evening With the Literature and Art Circle.

Yesterday evening, at the church of Our Father, the Literature and Art circle discussed Gounod.

The exercises were opened by the reading of a short biographical sketch of Gounod by Mr. George L. Chaney.

Mr. Salter gave an explanation of the work to be rendered and presided at the piano and led the singing.

The voices were Messrs. Alec. Smith, Cole, Shepherd and Burbank, and Mrs. Alec. Smith, Mrs. Sternberg and Miss Alice White.

These singers had all studied the work of Gounod for several weeks, and the result was a splendid rendition of the solo and chorus.

Following was the programme:

MORS ET VITA: GOUNOD.

FIRST PART.

1. Requiem—"Rest and peace eternal, Lord! in mercy give to them."

"Thou, God, art praised in Zion."

"Ab, what shall we then be pleading?"
"Rappy are we with such a Savior fulfilling our redemption."

4. "Lord, for anguish hear us mourning."

5. "With the faithful deign to place us."

6. "While the wicked are confounded."

7. "Day of weeping, day of mourning."

8. "Mighty Savior, Jesu blest."

9. "Aguus bet."

1. "To God high enthroned."
2. "Before Him for judgment."
3. "The righteous shall enter into life eternal."

THIRD PART.

"And I, John, beheld the holy city,"
Solo—"And I heard a great voice."
Chorus—"Lo, the tabernacle of God is men."

3. "I am Alpha and Omega."
4. "Rosanna in excelsis Deo.

THE GIRL IS DEAD, And the Negro Who Shot Her is Still at Large. Mollie Young, who was shot in the back by Shade Hutchins a few days ago, died yester-day afternoon at her home near Kirkwood.

Hutchins, who did the shooting, is still at large. He was arrested in Chattanooga, and the fact of his arrest telegraphed here, with the inquiry as to whether he was wanted and if any reward had been offered for his arrost.

if any reward had been offered for his arrost. Chief Connolly answered the dispatch, stating that Hutchins was wanted to answer the charge of assault with intent to murder, but that there was no reward for him.

Upon this answer being received at Chattanoega, Hutchins was released from custody. Hutchins, it is said, at once left Chattanoega, and is now in Nashville.

An effort will be made by the authorities to becure his arrest, and Sheriff Thomas will at once take the matter in charge.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

An elegant reception will be tendered the ladies' auxiliary touight. An attractive programme has been arranged, music and refreshments with a good social time. Every lady in the auxiliary has been invited and is expected. The reception committee will be present to see that the affair passes pleasantly. pleasantly.
Our usual meeting on Saturday night and Sunday afternoou at 3:30 for men.
A practical talk next week. Look out for the announcement.

A Small Verdict.

Yesterday morning a sealed verdict was brought in by the jury in the Dutto Thomaso damage case. The suit was brought for $10,000 against the Metropolitan Street Railway company for injuries sustained in falling off a car and being struck by the car, at the corner of Frazier and Fair streets, March 8th, 1888.

The jury rendered a verdict for $100.

The Public Invited.

The nurse training department of Spelman seminary, row in its fourth year, has thirty-five pupils and is doing a grand work. The public is invited to the semi-annual exhibition of this department at Rockefeller hall, this afternoon at 3 o'clock,

Dr. Cheney's Croup Remedy cured my son a of most severe case of membraneous croup, after we had given up all hopes of the child's recovery. Since then we keep Cheney's Croup Remedy constantly at hand, and recommend it to our neighbors. W. A. LANSDEL, Druggist, no 3.

THE HEBREW ORPHANS ASTLUM Arrival of the Superintendent and Matro

-The Condition of the Work. Mr. Louis, A. Son and wife, of New York City, who are to have the management of the B'nai Brith Orphan Asylum, reached Atlanta yesterday morning and registered at the Kimball, where accommodations had been secured for them by Mr. Joseph Hirsch, chairman of

for them by Mr. Joseph Hirsch, chairman of the building committee of the institution.

Mr. Son is to be the superintendent of the asylum and his wife is to be its matron.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Son, accompanied by Mr. Hirsch, visited the asylum, where the superintendent and matron were shown through the building, which is now practically completed. They expressed themselves highly pleased with the size and arrangements of the asylum.

The institution will be opened March 4th. The only remaining work to be done is to sweep out the building, scour the floors, and wipe off the windows.

Mr. Hirsch says that the asylum will open

Mr. Hirsch says that the asylum will open

Mr. Hirsch says that the asylum will open with about thirty children, ranging in age from four and a half to thirteen years. Thirteen of these children are in Baltimore, seven are in Augusta, and the others are in Charleston, Goldsboro, North Carolina, and in various points in North and South Carolina. Atlanta furnishes only one of the entire number.

Besides giving these children a good education, they will be taught to work, so that when they are fourteen years of age they can commence life by earning their own support.

Mr. Hirsch says that at that age the management will secure employment for the boys and girls, and none of them will be sent away from the asylum without a good situation provided for them where they can earn an honest living.

The way to get rich is to settle down to something and stick to it. Grand Republic Cigarros and Buffos will stand this pressure. Sold by all reliable dealers.

Opening of Providence Infirmary.

The undersigned executive committee charged with the administration of the Providence infirmary, located at the corner of Edge wood avenue and Ivy street, announce that it is now open for reception of patients, being fitted up in all respects as a first class private hospital.

The institution is prepared to accommodate male and female patients, in separate departnents, including children and lying-in women, and has all the appliances for comfort and convenience.

The building has been completely remodeled and entirely refurnished, the outfit of the apartments being tasteful and elegant, and com-petent nurses attend to all wants of the sick. Every variety of cases not contagious or insane receives appropriate treatment in the surgical, medical, gynælogical and obstetrical departments under the care of a professional staff, composed of Drs. T. S. Powell, W. D. Bizzell, A. G. Hobbs and W. S. Elkins, together with the undersigned. One of this staff will be in daily attendance at the infirmary to meet all the requirements of the sick.

Communications may be addressed to any member of the staff, or to the Providence infirmary direct.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 16, 1888

DEAR SIR—With much pleasure I am happy to say I am a well woman today, and have gained 37 pounds since I stopped taking morphine. After taking the first dose of your medicine did not want any more morphine, and my friends who saw me a month before I started to taking your medicine do not know me. You have made me a well and hearty woman, and I hope God will bless you and that you may cure all afflicted, for when a woman gets into the habit she had as well be dead. When I left Cedar Keys and came here, and when your medicine gave out I was all right. I wanted to wait and see if I would remain so. Doctor, you can use my name if you wish. I was taking six grains morphine a day. Your obedient servant and sincere friend, JOSEY MARSHALL,

CHIEF SARGENT LOOKS INTO THE CASE OF THE W. &

A. FIREMEN. DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED.

thief Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Has Been in Atlanta for Two Days-Changes Among Railroad Boys-Other News of

F. P. Sargent, grand chief of the Brother-hood of Locomotive Firemen, who has been in Atlanta for two days, called here for the purpose of adjusting certain differences between the fremen employed on the Western and Atantic railroad and the officials of that company, has finished his work and left for home

Yesterday at noon Mr. Sargent had a conference with President Joseph E. Brown, General Manager R. A. Anderson and M. L. Collier, master mechanic of the Western and At-lier, master mechanic of the Western and At-lantic railroad. With reference to the out-come of of this conference, Mr. Sargent says: "We have effected a settlement perfectly satisfactory to the railroad and to the men, and had no trouble in reaching a happy conclusion. I cannot furnish you with the terms of the ettlement, as what transpired was confilential. I will say this, however, that all differences between the road and its employes have been amicably adjusted. Kennesaw lodge of Atlanta is composed of a fine body of men, and the organization is increasing in strength very rapidly.

The Athens and Jefferson. The Athens Banner-Watchman seems to be over the prospects of the Athens and enthusiastic over the prospects of the Athens and Jefferson. It says:

Before the close of 1889 the Athens and Jefferson road will be built. We have been confident of this road for months, but other matters have necessarily delayed work. Now, however, our people are aroused and are enthusiastic for the immediate building of the road to Jefferson. Jackson county is our very-best territory, and the merchants and citizens of Athens ere anxious for rail connection with Jefferson and Jackson.

Canifalists have expressed a willingness to sub-citizens of Athens are anxious for rail connection with Jefferson and Jackson.

Capitalists have expressed a willingness to subscribe one half the amount necessary to build the road if Athens and Jefferson will subscribe the other half. This they are willing to do. A number of our bisiness men will subscribe liberally. Athens can be counted on to do her share. We venture nothing in saying that Jefferson will do likewise as they have been anxious for the road a long time. A number of our citizens will go to Jefferson this week to talk the road up. The plan proposed is feasible and dirt will be broken on the road before summer opens fairty. Our citizens will hold a public meeting in a few days, when the capitalists, who have proposed to subscribe hair the stock, will be invited to put their offer in tangible shape. At the same time subscriptions will be made by our citizens.

Not for Dan.

President Chauncey M. Depew has some-thing to do with the New York Central, but it is evident that he had nothing to do with the appointevident that he had nothing to do with the appointment of Dan Lamont as general passenger agent, in place of the late Henry Monnett. When askedabout the rumored appointment Mr. Depew said: "I suppose that rumor originated in the general idea that because a newspaper man knows everything that he can do anything. Well, all I can say about it is this. I have known Mr. Lamont well for twenty years, I didn't know he was a railroad hian, though. However, you bring me the first news of his proposed connection with this road. I have heard nothing from Mr. Lamont. We have heard nothing from Mr. Lamont. We have heard nothing from Mr. Jamont. We have heard nothing from Mr. Jamont. We have heard nothing from the railroad business is conducted on very practical bases. It does not admit of making places for men, but rather tries lo train men for the places. Your question as to possibilities in this matter reminds me of a Latin quoattion which I will not inflict upon you, but which freely translated means haught from naught you oughth't and if you do you get naught. When one has no foundation for a superstructure of possibilities it is fruttless to work on them."

The Rate Committee in Session The rate committee in session.

The rate committee of the Southern Railway and Steamship association was in session yesterday. There was a small attendance of the committee, owing to the fact that the business to be transacted by it was of little importance. The committee finished its business yesterday afternoon and adjourned.

He is Badly Hurt. Charles Langley, who was thrown from the top of a freight cab of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia rathroad about ten days ago near Macon, is still alive, but little hopes are entertained of his recovery. Dr. Nicolson is attending him and regards his condition critical.

Some Local Changes. Mr. O. J. CAPITOL AND CUSTOMHOUSE.

Yesterday Governor Gordon issued a commission to R. H. Herrington as tax receiver of Twiggs county. The consolidation of the returns of the superintendents of the election showed a majority of one for Herrington. His opponent, Thomas 1. James, gave no legal notice of contest, and upon this ground the governor commissioned Herrington.

Adjutant-General Kell received the bond of the Bibb County Blues, a colored company, yester-day, and forty breech-loading guns will be shipped to them today.

Applications for allowance from veterans continue to now into the executive department. Colonel Harrison attended to thirty-four applicants who called in person yesterday, and disposed of forty applications received by mail.

Brother in Black.

Two or three years ago a negro boy on my piece near Franklin, Ky. was tounented with an apparently incurable case of scrothla, which lasted him a long time and gave him great trouble. After trying many other remiedies, I at length went to Dr. Morris' drug store in this place and, bought several bottles of S. S. S., by taking which, and nothing else, he was fully and permanently cured. Ho is now a stout man, and at the time frommenced giving him S. S. S. the bones were working out of his arm-could use but one ara, and the declers said nothing could do him any good; but I had tried S. S. S. and seen it tried, and felt that it would cure him.

SOUTHERN DEVELOPMENT.

Baltimore Man Gives His Views on the Mr. William H. Edmonds, of the Manufacturers Record, spent yesterday in Atlanta.

Mr. Edmonds will be remembered as the able editor of the Auniston Hot Blast who had Mr. Edmonds connection with the Manufacturer's Record enables him to speak intelligently and authoritively concerning matters of southern development. He has given the matter thorough and careful study and his company when the subject are of decided value.

of southern development, He has given the matter thorough and careful study and his opinions upon the subject are of decided value. "The south is making more substantial progress just now them at any period in her previous history," he said yesterday. "This is especially true of southwestern Virginia and Kentucky. The next great waye of industrial enterprise that will sweep through the south will have its greatest force in that section. The people of these two states are preparing to get the full benefit of it by using every possible means to make known to the north and west the many natural advantages which their localities possess.

"The boom that swept over the south some two years ago was felt most forcibly in Tennessee Alabama, and Georgia, and these states are still making great progress. Unless, however, they are a little more active and vizorous in directing attention to their advantages and attractions, and their opportunities for investment, they are going to find Virginia and Kentucky a long way ahead of them."

Mr. Edmonds is on his way to Anniston to be present at the trial of those who made the brutal attack upon him a few months ago. He still suffers from the pistol wound he received.

Evidence of the value of Allcock's Por OUS PLASTERS comes in the following letter from Charles Yeager, of company A, 11th U. Infantry, stationed at Fort Sully, Dakota: "I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasers for the last ten years, and feel quite lost if I have not half a dozen in my possession. In this section of the country we have at times very severe cold. When the thermometer is pelow zero, I find that an Allcock's Porous Plaster on the pit of the stomach is invaluable They appear not only to warm the body, but to invigorate the digestion. At times I have been greatly troubled with a lame back. Two Allcock's Porous Plasters "placed upon the spine invariably cure me in two or three days. Some times I have had a severe cough and very bad cold. Underwriters' Mutual Insurance Comp'y, To the Citizens of Atlanta and Neighboring Points.

Subscriptions to stock in the Underwriters' Mutual Insurance company have about eached two hundred thousand dollars and are still coming in. The committee has not made a canvass for stock, as this is not deemed necessary. Before the books are closed in Atlanta and neighboring towns. however, we invite all persons who wish stock to communicate with the undersigned. It is desirable to interest as many persons as possible, and subscriptions for small amounts are preferred.

The charter for this company is an excellent one, was drawn by men engaged in the business of fire insurance, and has the important feature of being exempted from a personal liability. A copy will be furnished upon application to either of the following:

TO THE PEOPLE OF ATLANTA.

In coming before you as I do today I hope you won't think it strange; as I merely want you to look on the Greatest Grocery Man that Atlanta has ever-had. Just think of 25 kinds of Vegetables for your dinner in February. My brother merchants are amazed. They don't know how I do it. If you want to see one of the finest grocery stores in the south, and a beautiful display, call at my store today, where you will see the finest groceries that this and the markets of Europe afford. I was greatly amused a few days ago at a brother merchant. I tell you he was in a bad fix. A lady customer had stopped him on the corner of Alabama street and wanted to know why he had sent her such poor butter that day? Of course he was trying to apologize, and he tried to say I won't do it any more when she left him, with an indignant shake of the head. I shall take my trade away from you, sir; you have apologized about your bad butter long enough, and I can't stand it any longer-I will take my trade to Duffy: he never has bad butter. I hear the people all over Atlanta say he keeps the best butter in town, and in fact, all his groceries are the very finest. It is a long way for me to go buy my groceries, but I will do it before I made with man who is always apologizing for his bad butter, and other groceries. And in con clusion I will say that that bad butter business gave me fifteen new customers. Yours respectfully, J. J. DUFFY, 75 Peachtree St. P. S.—I most respectfully ask every house-keeper in Atlanta to call and see me today.
